4-H sewers make diapers for babies around the world

The Cloverleaf 4-H Sewing Club recently cut, ironed and stitched 37 cloth diapers and 20 burp clothes for the Orphan Grain Train to be sent all over the world where needed. Members brought their sewing machines, irons and scissors and started with 30 yards of double-sided soft flannel fabric, thanks to a donation from Thrivent Financial.
