Let the countdown begin!

Ozaukee County Fair concluded its five-day run Sunday, but it will be back in 362 days

Above, far left, last year's Junior Fairest of the Fair. Rachel Dowe of Knellsville, places the sash on this year's newly named Fairest of the Fair. Analise, Jainski, a member of the Cloverlead 4-H Club in Grafton. Center, this year's new royally stands with last year's, along with their contenders. From left are Johanna Poole, Port Washington; 2016's Junior Fairest of the Fair Megan Zaczyk. Cedar Grove, Jainski; 2015's Fairest of the Fair Megan Zaczyk. Cedar Grove, Jainski; 2015's Fairest of the Fair Fenily La Sage. Cedarburg. Dowe: and Lauren Pfaffenroth, Grafton. Above right, Dowe places the Junior Fairest of the Fair crown on Zaczyk.

Left, Kenneth Riemer of Mequon, who turned 76 Monday, has attended the last 75 Ozaukee County Fairs. His mother started the Lindenwood 4-H Club. "For all I know, I was born at the fair," quipped Riemer.

The crowning of Mr. and Miss 4-H took place Sunday after-noon. Spencer Knier and Jessie Schoessow take the reins as

This year's 4-H Key Awards were presented to Sarah higher education scholarships at this year's fair for their sup-ficients, Lindenwood 4-H Club; Patrick Curran and Rachel Gierach, Lindenwood 4-H Club; and Plelinda Knepprath, Toel 4-Country 4-H Club. Recipients are outstanding 4-H members who have demonstrated consistently high achievement, positions of responsibility and involvement in the county.

Right, Evil Master Jake Di Salvo of Cedarburg, driver of car #55 in the mid-size class, is served by a minion as his co-pilot as he crashes his way through the field Saturday night.

Left, demo derby fanatics cheer on their favorite drivers. Right, the winners show off their trophies From left are first-place Josh Nowak, a last-minute entry who won the compact car division; second-place winner Annetts Meinert with a mid-size entry, and third-place winner Alex Youngthunder, with a mid-size entry, and third-place winner Alex Youngthunder, with a mid-size entry, and tright is, Jim Fighorn, demo derby organizer, owner of Grand Motor Crash and flag official

by Deb Kranitz Art Dahlke

